ORDER REGARDING OBJECTIONS TO EXHIBITS

Debtors and other parties filed several exhibits in preparation for the confirmation trial in these cases. In turn, several parties filed objections to those exhibits. As the court has already iterated in a prior order (dkt. #7662), all exhibits are admitted into evidence unless they are objected to.

The two parties that filed objections to exhibits are Debtors and the Tort Claimants Committee. The court has reviewed both parties' objections. Both parties objected to exhibits

1 submitted by GER Hospitality, and the court will sustain the objection to one of GER
2 Hospitality's exhibits, namely item 21 in GER Hospitality's Exhibit List (dkt. #7411): the
3 declaration of Eric Lowrey in Support of Objection by Certain Fire Victims, because it lacks
4 relevance, is hearsay, and is being inappropriately offered on behalf of an unqualified expert.
5 See Fed. R. Evid. 401, 702, 802.

6 The court also sustains Debtors' objections to Patricia Garrison's Exhibit 4 (dkt. #7562):
7 an article titled "Klarman's Baupost Poised to Cash in on PG&E Insurance Bet," Wall Street
8 Journal, Sept. 13, 2019, due to a lack of relevance. Fed. R. Evid. 401. Debtors also objected to 9 Creditor William Abrams' exhibits (dkt. #7500) and the courts sustains the objections to 10 exhibits 6-11, as they are again news articles that lack relevance.

11 As to the remainder of the objections, to the extent they have not already been dealt 12 with, the court overrules them. The court notes that some of Debtors' objections relate to 13 timeliness, but nevertheless admits the relevant exhibits submitted by the Securities Lead
14 Plaintiffs (dkt. #7595).

15 The court also notes that several objections have been filed regarding the cure amounts
16 for executory contracts, which issue has been set aside to be reviewed at a later date. Those 17 exhibits and objections are not dealt with in this order.
